AN ELEGIAC TRIBUTE, To Parental Tenderness.

CHILL Winter's appearance was past, It's reign so unfeeling was done,
The breeze had succeeded the blast,
The twins had received the sun;
And daisies had chequ'd the scene, Impurled by violets in bloom;
When ELIZA mov'd o'er the green, And knelt by the side of a tomb.

The willow bent over her head, True emblem of grief and despair, Whose branches luxuriantly spread,
And hung with a sorrowful air:
My parent, my parent, so dear, There needed no tablet, she said,
My heart would have told me 'twas here, It's first, dearest object was laid!

The bosom, on which I have slept, The arms that intwin'd me so oft,
The eyes which so frequent have wept, So sweet, so enchantingly soft,
Are mould'ring, ah me, in the tomb!
Unseen are the tears which are shed, But still to weep o'er thee I've come—How low lies, my parent, thy head!

Yet mine, has found ease on thy breast, When pain has invaded my frame;
When grief's heavy hand has oppress'd, My pillow was always the same!
Ye tender, ye feeling of heart,
Who have writh'd beneath agony's steel!

Oh say, can affliction impart, A pang yet more deep than I feel?

To view a dear object of love,
To pain, or to sorrow a prey, The cruel sensation we prove, Makes us faint, and as feeble as they:
For oh! when the passion is pure, When love from true tenderness flows, We would die, so our deaths would insure,
A lasting contentment to those.

But, oh! when some friend of the heart, Lies panting, lies struggling for breath, Oh! say, does the view not impart, A feeling more painful than death?
Dear saint, whose abode is above,
For an angel in heaven thou art;
Send down from the regions of love, Relief to my agoniz'd heart.

Is it fancy which steals on my mind?
Or is it thy form that I view?
So tender the look, and so kind, Past scenes it appears to renew!
But, ah! sad reflection appears,
And tells me I'm destin'd to mourn, The scenes which have cheated my tears,
Will never, no never, return!

The friend of my youth is no more!
Yet why should I endlessly repine?
Her precepts I'll ever adore, Her virtues I'll strive to make mine.
Which said, she withdrew from the scene,
From the marble her tears had bedew'd, Again she mov'd over the green, Tho' daily the scene was renew'd.

Public Sale.

In pursuance of a decree of the Court of Columbia District, at the last June term, holden in Alexandria, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder, for ready money,

SUNDRY

Wooden Houses & Improvements,

Situate upon lots of ground on the fourth side of King street, between Royal and Pitt streets, which had been leased by Mordecai Miller to James Kidd for a term of years now ended. The sale will be made on the last Monday in August next, at the premises, in the forenoon of the same day. The purchaser has the right of removing the houses and improvements at any time before the 29th day of October next, from the lots whereon they are erected. Any person may view and examine the houses by application to John Horsberg and Matthew Eakin, in whose occupation they now are, and they will be sold separate or together, as may be found most expedient on the day of sale, for the purpose of selling them for the best price.

July 26.

Negotiation with France.

CONTINUED.

(No. 57.)

Is a letter from Lord Whitworth to Lord Hawkesbury, informing his Lordship that the conduct of M. Rhenhardt respecting the publication in the Hamburg newspapers was considered by the French government as highly reprehensible, and that every satisfaction was promised on that point.

(No. 58.)

Paris, April 18.

"MY LORD,

"I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's dispatches of the 13th inst.

"I saw Joseph Bonaparte immediately on the receipt of your Lordship's dispatch; and endeavored to convince him of the importance of preventing the ultima under which would inevitably follow the rejection of what he had to propose. I will briefly state, that on finding it perfectly impracticable to establish the principle of our keeping possession of Malta in perpetuity, I delivered to him in writing the second proposal I had to make. He did not fail to observe, that by this modification the difficulty which he considered as insurmountable was not removed; that although the order was restored, it could not be considered as independent, and in fact, Malta would belong to that power which had possession of the forts. I enforced the adoption of this plan by every reason which could serve to recommend it; but the possession in perpetuity was constantly urged as a difficulty which nothing could remove. Our conversation lasted near two hours.

"I confess that I gained no solid ground of hope that the project, which he assured me he would take to the First Consul at St. Clouds would be adopted.
But he said that he was not without hope that he might be authorised to propose to me the occupation of the fortresses for a term of years. It was my wish that such a proposal should come from him rather than from me. I told him that I did not well see how such a tenure would suit us, but that I wished too sincerely to avoid the fatal extremities to which I saw the discussion was tending, not to give any reasonable proposal which might be made on their part every assistance in my power.
This proposal originated with him, and was therefore received by me merely as a matter which I would refer to your Lordship. If however I can bring the matter to an immediate conclusion, and without further reference to your Lordship on the principle of our retaining possession of the fortresses of Malta for a term of years, not less than that pointed out by your Lordship, and with the assurance that this government will not oppose the cession of the island of Lampedosa. I shall have great pleasure in announcing to your Lordship such a conclusion.

"The conversation which I had the same morning with M. de Talleyrand, differed in no wise from what I have already mentioned. He suggested also the possibility of coming to an arrangement on the ground of a temporary occupation and I made him the same answer.

(Translation of inclosure referred to in
No. 51.)

His Majesty will consent, for the sake of preserving Peace, that the government of the island of Malta shall be given to the order of St. John; the Maltese enjoying those privileges which have been granted on former occasions. The fortifications of the Island shall be occupied in perpetuity by the troops of his Majesty."

(No. 59.)

Paris, April 20, 1803.

"MY LORD,

"I had hoped that the First Extraordinary Messenger I should have had occasion to send, would have been to announce to your Lordship, that the differences between the two governments were adjusted on one of the modifications pointed out to me by the last instructions from your Lordship. In this expectation I am deceived. I saw Joseph Bonaparte the night before last, before I had sealed up my dispatches of that evening to your Lordship; in those dispatches, I added nothing to them. He assured me positively, that I should hear from M. de Talleyrand in the course of yesterday morning, and that a meeting would be appointed in order to settle the term of years for which the First Consul might be induced to consent to the cession of Malta.

"I am sorry to say, that no such summons has been received by me, neither has any further notice been taken of the business. So that I feel, that I should betray the confidence your Lordship may place in me, where I to delay any longer requesting, that I may be immediately furnished with the terms on which his Majesty's Ministers would be willing to conclude, in order that I may propose them in the form of an ultimatum; and that at the expiration of the period allowed for deliberation, I may be authorized not only to declare that I am to leave Paris, but actually so to do, unless in the intermediate time, the French government should accede to our demands.

I have the honor to be, &c,

(Signed)

WHITWORTH.

"Right Hon. Lord Hawkesbury, &c."

(No. 60.) (Extra.)

"Downing street, April 23, 1803.

"MY LORD,

"If, upon the receipt of this dispatch, it shall not have been in your power to bring the negotiation to a conclusion on any of the propositions to which I have above referred, it is his Majesty's pleasure that you should communicate, officially, to the French Government, that you have gone in point of concession, to the full extent of your instructions: and that, if an arrangement, founded upon one of these propositions, cannot be concluded without further delay, you have received his Majesty's commands to return to England.

"His Majesty can only consent to relinquish the permanent occupation of Malta by his forces, on the conditions that the temporary possession shall not be less than ten years; that the authority, civil and military, shall during that period, remain solely in his Majesty; and that, at the expiration of that period, the island shall be given up to the inhabitants and not to the order; and provided likewise, that his Sicilian Majesty shall be induced to cede to his Majesty the island of Lampedosa. It is indispensable that, as a part of this arrangement, Holland should be evacuated by the French troops within a short period after the conclusion by which all those provisions are secured.
His Majesty will consent to acknowledge the new Italian states, upon the condition that stipulations in favor of his Saardinian Majesty, and of Switzerland, for a part of this arrangement.

It is his Majesty's pleasure that in the event of the failure of the negotiation, you should delay your departure from Paris no longer than may be indispensably necessary for your personal convenience; and that you should in no case remain there, after the receipt of this dispatch, more than seven days.

I have the honor to be, &c.

(Signed)

NEW-YORK, July 27.

Late from Cape-Francois.

By the schr. New York, in 11 days from Cape Francois, we have received the following information. There were four British line of battle ships and smaller vessels off that harbor. The Cape appears not to be blockaded, as neutral vessels were permitted to pass and repass, after undergoing a strict examination by the British cruisers. They had not yet heard of a declaration of war, but the event was hourly expected. The brigands were encamped within five miles of the town.— The French troops, in consequence of the great mortality which prevailed amongst them, were obliged to encamp outside of the town, where they daily died in great numbers. Two French seventy four gun ships, one of which had on board 300 passengers, were ready to sail for France; but were prevented from putting to sea by the British squadron off that port. The remainder of the French maritime force there consisted of four frigates.

The schr. New York was boarded by an English 74 off the Cape, and although there were a number of French passengers on board, suffered her to proceed. The conclusion was, that the news of war had not reached her.

From Martinique.

The schr. Lion, capt. Rice, in 17 days from Martinique, arrived last night at quarantine. Capt. Rice informs us, that Port Royal and St. Pierre, were closely blockaded by British squadrons. The Lion escaped from that port by putting to sea at night. Little or no opposition was expected to be made to the landing of the English troops. The greatest part of the principal inhabitants had retired to the interior of the island, to avoid the danger which might arise in case of their places being taken by assault. Great impositions were practised against the Americans, by the officers of the customs, as one third of the amount of their exports were consumed by additional fees and duties; and the only excuse offered for this conduct was, that they daily expected the English, and were determined to make use of their own language. "I make hay while the sun shone."

The British cruisers had detained number of American vessels bound to from Martinique.

A French passenger on board the Lion on a British cruiser's chasing the ship threw 300 letters overboard.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.

Yesterday arrived the ship Maria, cap-Calvert, 32 days from Lisbon, and informs, that the ship Cleopatra, Blackiston for this port failed on the 9th June; that the Tace, Thomas, also for this port, was to fail on the 26th June; that the ship Maria, for N. Y. failed in co. with him on the 25th June; and that the schr.
Hayward, for Baltimore, failed the day before.

The ship Delaware, Smith for this port was to fail in ten days after capt.
Calvert.

Capt. C. informs that a day or two before he failed, a British packet arrived, the capt. of which mentioned the loss of two British frigates, one by capture, the other being drove ashore in a gale. He also mentioned the capture of a French frigate by the British, but the names of either is not remembered.

It was currently reported at Lisbon, that the French had taken and held possession of Bremen.

Alexandria Advertiser.

SATURDAY, JULY 30.

The sloop Nancy, Welsh, has arrived at New York, in 11 days passage from this port.

In the name of the French Republic.

ARRETE,

Concerning the duties of Import and Export of the colonies of Martinique and St. Lucie.

1st Messidor, year 11 (June 29, 1803) Lewis Thomas Villaret Joyeuse, cap-gen. of Martinique and St. Lucie; and Charles Henry Bertin, Counsellor of state and colonial prefect of said island.

In consideration of the acts of hostility committed some days past, by the English on French and foreign vessels in sight of this colony:

Considering the urgency of providing supplies of provisions and objects of the first necessity for the islands of Martinique and St. Lucie:

And considering moreover the great importance of securing for the inhabitants a vent for the colonial productions, and of discharging the expenses incurred by providing for the defence of the said colonies:

Decree as follows:

Art. I. From this day, the entrance of all the ports of the Islands of Martinique and St. Lucie, shall be open to Foreigners, for the introduction of all kinds of provisions, and articles of the first necessity, and for the exportation of colonial produce, on the following conditions:

Art. II. The Arrete of the 11th Novose year 11, relative to the duties of export and import in the islands of Martinique and St. Lucie, is renewed, as far as concerns the introduction of provisions and articles of the first necessity; and the 2d Article of the Arrete of the Consuls, of the 4th Messidor, year 10, establishing the duty of entry at 6 Francs on every 5 myriogrammes of foreign Codfish, and the 5th article of the Arrete of the ci-devant Council of State of the 30th of August 1784, which establishes a duty of entry of 3 francs per quintal on foreign salted beef and Fish, are provisionally repealed.

Art. III. All provisions and articles of consumption arriving from a foreign country, shall be subject to a local duty of one per cent. and to an additional duty of two per cent.

Art. IV. Col-

Art. IV. Colonial productions exported to foreign countries shall be subject to the duty called le Domaine d'Occident, viz. 3½ per cent on their value, and 10 sols per livre, and sugars to the duty besides of 40 sols per quintal; and also the duty of 10 sols per livre. The said productions shall likewise be subject to a duty of 1 per cent, and to an additional duty of 1 per cent.

Art. V. The colonial productions exported to France by French subjects, shall remain subject to the duty of two per cent on their value, which duty shall be charged to the seller or shipper, and shall be paid to the customs, by the master of the vessel.

Art. VI. The Director General of the customs, is charged with the execution of the present Arrete, which shall be printed, read, published and affixed in all the customary places; a copy of which shall be sent to the Chief Judge, with a request to have the same recorded in the registry of the tribunals.

Decreed at Fort de France, in the island of Martinique, the first Messidor year 11 of the French Republic.

(Signed)

VILLARET, BERTIN.

N. B. The foregoing Arrete extends only to the island of Martinique, St. Lucia having recently been captured by the British.

The Reign of Terror.—The federal administration of the government has been denominated by some of the leaders of democracy "the reign of terror." We think with great propriety. A wife and righteous administration must indeed be a "terror to evil doers"—but a praise to those who do well. We are not affronted, therefore, at the censure of one class of our citizens, or at the praise and condemnation of federalists. We are not surprised that democrats should complain of the reign of terror, in a government they have constantly opposed. The formation and adoption of our constitution struck them, to use the words of Tom Paine, as "with a hydrophobia," for in this they saw the commencement of a wife energetic government. A government opposed to visionary projects and new theories; a government not founded on the Utopian and whimsical doctrines of the infinite perfectibility of man and universal philanthropy, but a government founded in principles that have been sanctioned by the experience of ages; a government which, if adhered to and properly administered, will secure to our citizens all the blessings of society. This federal constitution and government (from their attachment to which federalists derive their name) was opposed in its infancy by the file leaders of democracy; and with a zeal worthy of a better cause, the factious and disaffected exerted their whole influence to impede every important measure of its administration.

Yet, it is a fact well known, that most of the democratic party who are now in power, and who hold the most important offices in the government, were warmly opposed to the adoption of the constitution. It is known that they perseveringly adhered to a systematic opposition to the measures of government—but success was denied them. The constitution was adopted by federalists—by federalists the government was put into operation, and was wisely administered, to the unparalleled prosperity of our country. Washington governed our councils. The people immediately experienced the beneficial effects of the wisdom and energy of an efficient administration; public and private credit was restored; our commerce flourished beyond all former example, agriculture felt its benign influences, and our farmers were growing rich by the fruit of their labor. Federalists rejoiced in the growing prosperity of their country; the government to them was a praise and a blessing—but to democracy it was emphatically the "reign of terror."

Her wayward sons sickened at the triumph of virtue and principle, and trembled for the cause they had espoused. An energetic government was a terror to the dark minds of the reflexes and ambitious demagogues; it was a death blow to the unhallowed schemes of certain individuals in certain large states in the union, who were opposed to measures which in their operation would abridge them of the consequence and materially retard their personal aggrandizement. The prompt and efficient measures of the federal administration to quell a daring and violent opposition to the execution of the laws, must undoubtedly have struck with terror the abettors of an insurrection, which would have prostrated all power, and have led to anarchy "and wild misrule." The flinty heart of Mr. Gallatin himself was struck with dismay, and he no doubt at that period wished to have stopped the wheels of government, as he would have denied the benefits of social intercourse to all citizens who should not persist in resisting the laws of the United States. The wise policy of the federal administration, in adopting and adhering to a system of strict neutrality during the late European war, was a terror to democracy. The views of the party devoted to the interests of France darkened; the intrigues of French emissaries, supported by the interests of a French faction in this country, failed of success; France and England were left to fight their own battles, and the peace of our country was eminently secured by the wisdom of our rulers. This was the "reign of terror" to democracy. Alien laws were a terror to "fugitives from justice." These worthy pupils of democracy exclaimed against a system wisely adopted by the federal administration in regard to foreigners; a system that afforded them immediate protection, and put them on trial for a title to the confidence of our government. This was a terror to many of this description of democrats. The federal law was a terror to the daily retailers of vile calumnies. The hirelings of the party, who turned their presses into the hot beds of sedition, and dealt out anathemas against the government and its adherents, with unprecedented boldness were justly terrified at a law that restrained their publications within the limits of truth.

Ambitious and unprincipled demagogues, seeking for power as a mean of personal aggrandizement, saw all their prospects blasted in a moment, when merit was considered the only test for public office—when the only questions that were asked in making appointments were, "is he honest? is he capable? is he a friend to the constitution?"—Well then may democracy "cry aloud and spare not"—Well may her sons exclaim against the wife administration of federalists as a "reign of terror." New York Paper.

THE FLORIDAS, &c.

The following project respecting those provinces, is intimated from a respectable source, and is considered as deserving of attention: The United States to pay to the French government twenty millions of livres tournois, and to assume the payment of twenty four millions due from that government to our citizens, in consideration of the cession of Louisiana as formerly possessed by Spain. Mr. Monroe to proceed to Madrid to offer to the King of Spain the territory obtained of France, laying West of the Mississippi, and the free navigation of its waters, on condition of the cession of the Floridas to the United States, and a certain sum in cash; the 20 millions due France to be assumed in part of the specie payment. This arrangement will be attended with the advantage of designating the line between Spain and the United States by the Mississippi, and prevent any uneasiness in future respecting boundaries. It is known that Mr. Monroe left Paris for Madrid, and there is little doubt that this is the object. (New London Pap.)

FROM THE TRENTON FEDERALIST.

MORE DEMOCRATIC RESOLUTIONS!

Messrs. Printers of the Federal Paper,

As every thing an't always printed in our democratic paper that we do at our meetings, which by the by is not as much liberty as I like, now I want to have put in your paper the rest; for I'm a right up and down fellow. I want to have these federalists know we know as much as they. Now, the first of our doings was, or as they call'em, resolutions.

Resolved unanimously, That we'll all go to senfe and knowledge too enough, to tell black from white, in the day time; and then

Resolved unanimously, That words have some meaning, and therefore, that meaning must be what we understand, and what we understand must be what we understand (and that's clear enough;) and further resolved, that all words shall mean what we say they shall.

Resolved unanimously, That democracy, means our government, because our government is just like the government of Athens, and just like the government of Sparta, and just like the government of Rome, and just like the government of France; and all which we know very well from our knowledge of ancient history!

Resolved unanimously again, That treason is not what the constitution of the United States says it is, but what we say it is; for this reason, because we are wiser men than the old dotards that made the constitution, and all the people in the U. States, besides, who adopted it; therefore,

Resolved unanimously, That the 1st article of the third section of the constitution of the United States which says that "Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort" is a lie, which if we don't make it lie it will make us lie!

Well then, we went as you might have seen in our paperlast week about the printer at Philadelphia, and condemned him unanimously—so as we had nothing else to do then, but hang him unanimously, we tho't we might as well first put Judge Chase out of his office, or perhaps he might hang us for it; and this you may suppose, we'd be unanimous enough about too.

And 1st. Resolved unanimously, That we know more about what belongs to a judge to do than Judge Chase does; and further as we don't want to have any thing taken without proof, 1st. we declare it and 2d. we ourselves declare it.

2d. Resolved unanimously, that Judge Chase, although he was a signer of the Declaration of independence, and did more than any of us in the Revolution, is now an old tory, and has no right to talk about the conduct of our government; because he don't say what we like, and therefore we will resolve it's unbecoming a judge to do so!

3d. Resolved unanimously, That judge Chase said to the grand jury, in his address on the 1st Monday in May, just what we say he did, and therefore we'll make him say what we please, and how we please, and so we'll have enough against him.

Well, after we'd done this, when we passed what you've seen in the prints, and put him out neck and heels. Old Chase we're sure on't, will never git on the bench again; for as soon as he comes to hear about what we've done, and especially when he knows who we are, he'll faint I'm sure.

A Real Democrat.

Irish method to ruin a Banker.

In the late rebellion in Ireland, John Claudius Bressford, who is a member for the city of Dublin, and is also a banker, by his great vigilance, in detecting and punishing the rebels in various parts of the country, made himself so obnoxious to them, that whenever they plundered a house, and found any of his bank notes, the general cry was—"By—, we'll ruin the rascal, we'll destroy every note of his we can find," and they actually destroyed, it is supposed, upwards of 200000 of his notes in the course of the rebellion.

Twenty Dollars Reward.

RANAWAY from the subscriber, living in the town of Dumtries, on Thursday the 14th ult. a bright Mulatto servant, named GEORGE, the property of Hector Alexander, merchant, and hired by the subscriber. He is between 20 and 22 years of age, well made, 5 feet 6 or 7 inches high, is very fair to be a Mulatto, full faced, a little pitted with the small pox, short, straight, black hair; he is by trade a shoemaker.—He had, when he runaway, a white flannel coat-tee, nearly new, a country cloth do. of a dark yellow broad stripe, almost new, a pair of new nankeen pantaloons, white dimity jacket, a pair of striped silk and cotton stockings, and, I believe, some white cotton do. two pair of fine shoes, nearly new, and a fine felt hat half worn. He is an artful fellow, and may attempt to pass himself as a white man. Whoever brings the above fellow to the subscriber, shall receive the above reward and reasonable charges, or the above reward if confined in any jail so that I get him again.

At GADSBY'S BALL ROOM,
On Tuesday Evening, Aug. 2,
Will be introduced a variety of performances exclusive of Mr. RANNIE'S Ventriloqually Powers. He has for 14 years studied the nature of other arts, and he will introduce a number of experiments that are almost incredible; particularly, he will cut away the skirts from any gentleman's coat, and afterwards cause the coat to become whole as formerly. He will likewise cut off a FOWL'S HEAD;
after the head and body is placed on distinct parts of the table, he will reunite them, so that the fowl shall be nothing the worse, neither can the most discriminating eye perceive the smallest blemish on examination.
Mr. R. will on the same evening perform on the Slack-Wire:
He balances a table on his chin, with one hundred full wine glasses on it, while he stands on the wire, he passes several times through a small hoop and lays down on it, and what is still more astonishing, he balances two separate balances on his face, the body being on the wire, constitutes three balances all at once. During the evening he will perform a variety of feats, that cannot fail to secure the admiration of enlightened characters.
Doors to be opened at half past 7, and the performance to begin at 8, and finish at 10 o'clock.
Admittance—ONE DOLLAR. Children half price.

United States of America, Fifth Circuit, Virginia District, May Term, 1803.

Under a Decree of the said Court, the Commissioners will expose to public sale, for ready money, on the premises, at 12 o'clock on Friday the 19th day of August next,

That valuable and extensive FARM, called Mount Salus, alias Millthorpe, lying in Fairfax county, on Difficult and Wolfe Traps; containing by deed 550 acres, and by survey 673 acres. The mansion house is on a high, healthy and agreeable situation, convenient to which are springs of good water. The house is 40 by 18 feet, two rooms on a floor, with a nine feet passage and staircase, 2 brick chimneys, with a fire place to each room, a piazza the whole length of the front, a cellar 40 by 18, walled with stone and divided into two apartments. There are several small buildings, near the mansion house and garden. There are, also, a valuable merchant and grist mill, saw mill, distillery, miller's house and overseer's house. The mill house is 40 by 30, two story high, half the lower story of stone, the other part of wood, and covered with shingles. There are one pair of Burr and one pair of Cologne stones, three bolting cloths almost new, one screen, all now in use in manufacturing wheat and grinding grist. The still house 40 by 30, one story high, walls of stone and shingled roof, the floors plank, the upper laid for malting grain, and troughs fixed round the whole house constructed to carry water to every vessel which may need it. Three stills and one boiler can be worked to advantage in the said house. The waters of Wolfe Trap, on which the mill and saw mill stand, are constant streams. The situation for country customers, or purchasing wheat, is exceeded by none in the county or neighbourhood, not being more than 17 miles from Alexandria or George Town, where there are excellent markets for country produce of every description, and about 19 miles from Washington. The land is fertile and productive, and the soil well adapted to receive improvement from the use of plaster of Paris. There are upwards of 1000 panels of fence on the land, and about 160 or 170 acres of well timbered land belonging to the tract. There have been nearly 20 acres of timothy made, lying on Wolfe Trap and Difficult runs; 50 acres more may be made at a small expence. This farm enjoys many natural advantages, which are unnecessary for us to mention, it being taken for granted that every person wishing to buy such property will avail themselves of an opportunity of viewing the premises, previous to the day of sale, capt. James Wiley, residing near the land, will show the premises, and also a plat of the survey, which is left with him for the information of those concerned.

The title papers will be exhibited on the day of sale.

A VALUABLE MILL
FOR SALE.

THE subscriber wishes to sell his MILL, known by the name of Cifton Mill, within two and an half miles of Dumfries, on the waters of Quantock, which is as constant a stream as any in this part of the country, and in an exceeding healthy situation; very conveniently situated to a fine wheat country, not being more than half a mile out of the way, in going to Dumfries, from the main road leading from Freighter Court-House, Centerville &c. (and by some thought not any out of the way at all) and a very good road to it. There are, if the purchaser chooses, 227½ acres of land which may go with mill, (except one acre which will be reserved) or a smaller quantity as may be agreed on. The mill is an over-shot, with a wheel of 23 feet 9 inches and 4 feet head, with two pair of Stones. One pair of French burrs of 5 feet, the other of Cologne, with every apparatus necessary for carrying on merchant business to the best advantage. The mill-house is fifty feet long and twenty-seven feet wide, two stories high, with a small kiln for drying corn, together with barn, stable, cow house and lumber house, convenient to the mill. A convenient dwelling house, (not quite finished) with a kitchen, meat and corn house; the whole of which have been built within 7 years past. There are two very thriving young orchards of peach and other fruit trees. It was supposed, had not the frost killed the fruit this spring, upwards of 100 gallons of barndy might have been made from them. Should the whole of the land be required with the mill, there is another small house, kitchen and meat house, at a short distance from the former.

The situation of this property must render it a desirable acquisition to any person inclined to engage in this line of business, particularly as it is situated so near tide water. It is deemed unnecessary to say any thing more respecting the premises, as it is presumed any person inclined to purchase would wish to see them. Nothing would induce me to part with this valuable property, but the pressing demands against me which I am anxious to discharge, therefore a great bargain may be expected. Any further information may be known on application to, JOHN SOWDEN, Clifton Mill.
